SOFI

A furniture collection made of iroko wood for outdoor living rooms.

Sofi is a collection with a sophisticated design inspired by organic shapes. Its curved forms, both in the upholstered parts and in its wooden elements, aim to represent the organicism of nature, with its softly rounded edges.

These features are particularly noticeable in the iroko wood bases of the seats and tables, but also in the edges of the upholstery and the beveled edges of the porcelain tabletops.

While the outdoor sofas in the Sofi collection allude to solid rocky elements, as if sculpted by the environment, the design of the tables has a more vegetal expression. Viewed together, their elements resonate, in a way, with a natural landscape, both rocky and botanical at the same time, but translated into the design of a furniture collection.

The outdoor sofas in the Sofi collection, both individual and large-sized, are pieces with a strong presence and very voluminous proportions, so their design is intended for very large, spacious, and open environments. They can be accompanied by different types of tables: from a unique piece that attaches to the seats, to different models to be used as a side table or a coffee table.

Sofi contributes to a visually softer atmosphere, creating a warmer and more welcoming environment

Despite the large, cozy upholstered pieces and pleasant textures that suggest indoor furniture, this collection is specifically made with materials and fabrics designed for outdoor use.
